Group activities during the seminar revealed major deficiencies in cooperative governance and management of the participating SCCs. "I believe this is the situation of all cooperatives in Myanmar, not just our own cooperatives. Network Management, an Imminent Task for Federations' CEOs

From March 3 to 6, ACCU, in partnership with FSCT and CULT, organized the CEO Workshop facilitated by Mr. Sylvain Barrette from Development international Desjardins, DID at Chaophraya Park Hotel, in Bangkok. The workshop was attended by 20 CEOs and delegates from 9 countries.

The workshop on the theme Strategic Management for the Development of Credit Union Networks, enlightened participants on the advantages and disadvantages of an integrated credit union network. The Desjardins Model presented by Mr. Sylvain at the workshop along with its characteristics, advantages, criteria of federated network

The training gave an opportunity for participants to learn to analyze the performance of the network based on the fictitious case and how to prepare a turnaround plan to improve the network based on the case. Participants develop their skills to assess the performance of their network enabling them to identify potential and current issues hindering the development credit unions. At the end of the day, the measurement is how well the network is being managed to effectively deliver its mission of improving lives of people who are its members.

Mr. Sylvain emphasized that there are 4 criteria that characterized the Federated Network, which are Shared Resources, Standardized Operations, Contractual Solidarity and Strategies for Internal Governance. He also emphasized that federation needs to put their acts together because there is an emergency in their network. It is very risk, if the federation does not know the state of the network as the federation needs to manage the network.

All participants, CEOs and delegates have realized and embraced the concept of an integrated Network, and would like to adopt this concept in their federation. Hence, Mr. Sylvain suggested that to know your network as a whole, the first step is to have a consolidated data and information from all members in the network to come up with the consolidated financial statement. This can be used as a tool to identify the issue in your network.

The workshop concluded with an agreement that the CEOs will prepare the consolidated financial statements of their network which will be used for the September 2014 workshop in Bali, Indonesia. ACCU recognizes that the integration of credit union networks is going to be a serious business for its members. It will also provide and facilitate technical assistance to adopt the elements for integration on a gradual basis.

Newly Elected ACCRA Officers

Regulators Concur to Delegated Supervision of Credit Unions by Federation

On March 7-8, ACCU, in partnership with FSCT and CULT, hosted the CEOs & Regulators Conference at Chaophraya Park Hotel, in Bangkok. The conference was attended by regulators, CEOs and delegates from 11 countries and Mr. Sylvain Barrette as a guest speaker.

The summaries on the credit union/cooperative regulations and challenges from each country have been presented, along with the Best Practices from the Desjardins Model in Canada and NACUFOK Model in Korea, on the self-regulation of the credit union by the federation as delegated by regulators to the attendees. In both models, federation acts as a watchdog to monitor and supervise their member organizations to ensure their safety, soundness and sustainability. Participants are welcoming the ideas and are looking forward for further studies to implement the idea in their country. "As always, I found the program very well-informed and valuable", said one of the regulators.

The Fit and Proper requirement for the Board of Directors and positions of trust in the credit union is an area where regulators see the need for regulations. Recognizing that credit union's image is suffering from bad governance, ensuring trustworthy people being in the positions is important to gain public trust and improve the performance of Asian credit unions, said the Philippine regulator Dr. Emmanuel Santiaguel.

As a result, regulators realized that the federation can be delegated to establish self-regulation of credit unions to strengthen the credit union movement and to assist the regulators in supervising the credit union and cooperatives in their country to ensure its safety and soundness. This will lead to strong and sustain credit union movement and better livelihood of the people in the country.

In addition, the new ACCRA officials have been elected at the end of this meeting to replace the previous officials whose term will end this April. Mr. Md. Humayun Khalid from Bangladesh, Dr. W.H. Karunarthna from Sri Lanka, Ms. Keasorn Manivong from Lao PDR and Dr. Emmanuel Santiguel from Philippines have been respectively elected as the President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer of ACCRA.

On March 9, 2014 all the participants visited Nongkhanang Credit Union Limited in Petchburi Province, Thailand, one of the CULT Members, to see and have first-hand experience in the operation of credit union in Thailand.

"We are happy to receive the good news that four SACCOS got the renewal for Bronze, while two new SACCOS get a fresh brand, also of Bronze," announced the Chairman of NEFSCUN Mr. Rishi Raj Ghimire. NEFSCUN is currently assisting more than 30 SACCOS for accreditation plus another 30 SACCOS being prepared for accreditation under the recently launched program called "PROBATION."

Kisan SACCOS and VYCCU SACCOS will receive the accreditation in Bali, Indonesia. VYCCU Chief Officer Mr. Madhab Prasad Poudel said his credit union experienced threefold increase in membership and assets since 2011 when they started the accreditation process. "I have seen the Board and management's efforts to improve their image and change the management culture to create differentiation," according to NEFSCUN's ACCESS coordinator Mr. Baburam Neupane. "Our task is to maintain and continuously improve. Mongolians Inspired by ACCU Forum, Organized their Own in Ulaanbaatar

Inspired by the Asian Credit Union Forum, the two days Mongolian Credit Union Forum on the theme Sustainable Development drew more than 200 leaders and professionals in a two-day full packed conference on May 2-3 in Ulaanbaatar.

The Mongolian Confederation of Credit Unions (MOCCU) organized the forum with Moncord SCC as co-organizer and general supporter. Altan Davalгаа CU, Credit Union Mongol SCC, Monum SCC, MonSant Aldar SCC, Sidan SCC, and MPP SCC supported the forum. "Having attended the ACCU forum starting 2011 in Malaysia, I have always dreamed of organizing this forum in Mongolia. The forum is a great venue to share experience, discuss common issues, expand horizon, and reinforce the unity of the credit unions," said the CEO of Moncord.

The Head of the Finance Regulatory Commission Mr. D. Bayarsaikhan inaugurated the forum. The Chairman of MOCCU Mr. Gookhuu presented the state of savings and credit cooperatives (SCCs). Mongolia has 141 registered SCCs with 27,245 individual members and a combined assets of Mongolian Tugrug 73.8 billion (USD 41 million).

ACCU Manager Member Services Ms. Elenita San Roque in her presentation on Stabilization Fund made distinctions between Central Finance Facility and Deposit Guarantee Fund with Stabilization Fund. She clearly emphasized that the Stabilization Fund functions as a national reserve fund to support credit unions in distress after its reserves have been depleted due to sustained losses. Attendees admitted that the failure of one credit union has a direct impact on all credit unions as public will normally generalized credit unions as unsafe financial institutions.

Having registered the largest delegation of 23 to the Bali Asian CU Forum, MOCCU requested ACCU to share the highlights of the forum to the attendees. Similar to the Mongolian forum, San Roque underscored the reasons why an annual gathering, like the forum, is important: Celebrate the achievements of the credit union network, recognize – that there is always a room for improvement, recommit to the credit union ideals and move forward by taking action on what they have learned.

The forum featured regulatory framework, international and local credit union best practices and cross cutting issues on credit union development discussed at 8 plenary sessions and 15 breakout sessions discussed by experienced credit union leaders and professionals. The Canadian Co-operative Association represented by Bev Maxim presented the Women Mentoring Program and Innovative Service Delivery methods in the Canadian credit union system.
